

Assignment in Runtime polymorphism

Develop a Java program that includes a base class `Employee` with a method `calculateSalary()`. Create two subclasses, `Manager` and `Programmer`, each having its own implementation of the `calculateSalary()` method. In the main program, create an array of `Employee` objects, including instances of both subclasses, and invoke the `calculateSalary()` method for each object to demonstrate dynamic polymorphism.